

Front Yards in Bloom

Sponsored by: City of Edmonton

Temporary Position

Volunteer Responsibilities

You do not need a green thumb or space to decorate to get involved with the City of Edmonton's Front Yards in Bloom program. Volunteer and be a part of celebrating the hard work of your fellow community members.

In this short-term volunteer role, you will assist by:

- Delivering nomination signs to nominated yards in Edmonton
- Providing input during the first round of the program's judging

(Virtual and in-person training options)

About Front Yards in Bloom

Front Yards in Bloom has played an important role in bringing communities together. Every summer, people can nominate their neighbours, family and friend's yards to be recognized in 6 categories: general yards, edible yards, natural yards, tiny yards, balconies in bloom and the public space category. Nominees receive a nomination package hand-delivered to their yard, and have a chance to be a top finalist and receive recognition at the Edmonton In Bloom Awards.

Your volunteer timeline:

Register and complete some forms; tell us where you'd like to deliver nomination packages and how many addresses you can deliver to.

June 27 - July 2: Attend an in-person training session the evening of June 27 or complete virtual training online at your own pace.

July 3 or 4: Come pick up your volunteer materials and learn where you'll be delivering nomination packages.

July 5 - July 21: Hit the streets, deliver your assigned nomination packages and volunteer on your own time - you make your schedule!
